Premier Manning Opposes Continuance of Means Test

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—(CP)—The federal-provincial fiscal conference decided today to take its problems behind closed doors and seek to work out solutions there.

As the last of the provincial general statements ended, Prime Minister St. Laurent suggested the conference might wish to deal in private with the two main items on its agenda—negotiation of tax agreements with the federal government and steps towards greater social security.

The conference agreed and then adjourned until later this afternoon.

Mr. St. Laurent indicated that Finance Minister Abbott would elaborate on the government's fiscal proposals at the afternoon session.

MANNING SPEAKS
Premier Manning of Alberta said the conference must never lose sight of the fact that there must be a "clarification of the responsibilities" of Canada's various governments, and that each must be provided with the means to carry out those responsibilities.

Any other approach to the country's fiscal problems could be only temporary.

He also referred briefly to social security and said Alberta had consistently urged abolition of the present type of means-test for old-age pension. He could not repeat with the views expressed by other delegates at the conference as favoring a contributory system of old-age pensions.

TWO CLASSES
There should be two classes of pensions:

1. A basic retirement pension which would be granted regardless of means as a basic right of citizenship, whatever the amount.

2. There should also be "some form of supplementary old-age pension" for which the citizen should be primarily responsible himself.

The idea that the state should intervene and require a citizen to pay a certain sum for his old age seemed basically unworkable. If the citizen was in a position to

Pact Nations In Agreement

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The 12 Atlantic Pact countries were reported last night reaching agreement on a fresh plan for using German troops in Western Europe's defense.

The plan, proposed by The Netherlands, was said by diplomatic informants to contemplate appointment of a civilian high commissioner to supervise recruiting of 10 divisions of German troops.

The soldiers would be integrated as units into the combined North Atlantic treaty organization army in Europe.

Atlantic Pact deputies—with the exception of French representative, Hervé Alphand, who is in Paris discussing the issue—conferred yesterday on the Dutch proposal. It is expected that when they met to move Alphand will give France's approval.

No Casualties When Freight Sideswiped

WINNIPEG, Dec. 5.—(CP)—A Canadian National Railway east-bound freight sideswiped a standing westbound express freight today at Curran, Sask. 91 miles west of Regina, Man., on the main transcontinental line. No one was hurt.

The CNR here said three cars and the caboose of the east freight were derailed, tying up the main line. Transcontinental passenger trains were rerouted.

The accident occurred at the eastbound train was coming in to make a meet with the westbound train.

POLICE SAY:

Thief May Drop Jewels By Parachute

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(Reuters)—Police today opened a wide-spread manhunt for a phantom jewel thief who they believe flies by parachute.

The thief is known as "The Wrath." In the last six months he has robbed British country homes of gems worth more than £100,000. No one has ever seen him and he never leaves clues.

Scotland Yard detectives theorize that perhaps "The Wrath" flies to Europe after each raid and drops his loot by parachute. Then he lands, cleans customs, and collects the jewels.

Calgary Flood Threat Is Now Believed Over

CALGARY, Dec. 5.—(CP)—The Bow River flood threat in Calgary is virtually over today. The river is flowing steadily beneath a giant ice jam which had choked it off.

Its two forks in east Calgary for almost one week.

City Engineer Roy Strong reported at 2 a.m. that the bow had cut a channel under the ice jam, which had formed a solid wall from the surface down to the bed of the river.

About the only remaining threat is posed by a reservoir of water behind an eight-foot dam of ice which formed last night at Keith, half a mile upstream from the village of Bonaville, which is eight miles west of downtown Calgary.

But only the homes of about 10 people on Lowery Gardens, a peninsula jutting out from the river's south bank at the city's west limit, face the danger of flooding. They were evacuated last night although the gardens were not flooded.

REGULATED BY JAM

The new ice jam helped to regulate the peak flow of the bow last night. The water ate slowly away at the muddy bottom of the jam, and it started "sneaking through." Once a channel was cut the water rushed through.

Last Friday night the peak flow ran full tilt into the jam. Stopped dead and rapidly rising until, without warning, the bow poured over its north and south banks. Three hundred persons in a 23-block area of east-central Calgary were flooded out their homes.

Fort Wayne Gives Warning On Water

FORT WAYNE, Ind., Dec. 5.—(AP)—A debris-clogged intake valve which halted city water service in Fort Wayne yesterday was cleared last night and pumping operations were resumed. Residents were warned to boil all drinking water used during the next week because contaminated water might still be in the pipes.

Leduc Gas Firm Is Blamed in Blast

By Barney McKinley
Preliminary hearing on a charge of criminal negligence arising out of the Leduc Hotel disaster, Nov. 11, will be faced by Leduc Utilities Ltd.'s chief engineer, W. J. Gray, on Dec. 12 at Leduc.

The utility company is also facing the same charge and may be liable to a fine of fifty guineas.

Gray was released on $200 bail after hearing the charge read by Leduc police magistrate J. P. M. Coady. The 64-year-old engineer from Calgary was represented by Edmonton barrister F. P. Layton.

He did not enter pleas. The summons against the company was handed to F. J. Simington, general manager of Leduc Utilities Ltd., who attended the final session of the inquiry was still filling out the inquest was still filling out the inquest was still filling out the inquest.

Announcement that charges were being laid against Gray and the company he worked for was made by provincial solicitor general J. Macdonald. He conducted the probe into the Leduc Hotel explosion and fire which took 19 lives, hospitalized 26 and caused property damage estimated at $250,000.

Polar Area Gone to 'Hat, Warmer Here

Well, Old Man Winter certainly left the milk bottle top standing high this morning.

Their heights varied as did the overnight temperature which hit 17 below shortly before midnight, then gradually increased to minus 10 at the time when most people were at work.

That isn't too bad though, according to the chaps in the weather office where yesterday a rumor originated that two of them were moving to sunny California.

They say the mercury will pick up and reach a high of zero today, as clear and cold weather with light southerly winds continues to prevail.

THING OF PAST
The polar, high pressure area that yesterday hung over our heads and left temperatures at a high of seven below is now a thing of the past.

It's moved down to Medicine Hat. But Edmonton's in for a new weather disturbance—a much better one.

Moving off the Gulf of Alaska is a warm weather low pressure area that tomorrow will cause temperatures in the district to swing upward anywhere five to 15 degrees.

Expected high in the city tomorrow is 19 above. Low tonight is 10 below.

Flood Relief Fund

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—(CP)—City council last night voted $100,000 to inaugurate a campaign for Calgary flood relief.

Services in an emergency will be forwarded to Alberta's civil defence coordinator, AVM G. H. Howson, through Col. E. Ted Brown, provincial government coordinator of civil defence, and AVM Howson's deputy of provincial civil defence.

Today's meeting followed discussions with civil and provincial secondary bodies being dropped out of the government service and Hon. C. E. Gerhart, cabinet minister in charge of civil defence.

Government staffers will also immediately appraise entire resources of the province, determining what municipal, industrial and agricultural resources could be used in an emergency.

Deputy ministers and branch heads will organize their own departments, setting up advisory civil defence committees where severe defence conditions were severe. Their recommendations as to ways of assisting government.

Attlee and Truman Said In Agreement

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—British informants reported today President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee have agreed that the United Nations forces should re-invade Korea even if the Chinese Reds force them to quit in a Korean "Dunkirk."

The sources said Truman and Attlee also agreed that the United Nations should do everything possible to avoid getting into a state of open war with Communist China.

The decision was taken during the 90-minute meeting at the White House yesterday, informants said.

The decision was taken during the 90-minute meeting at the White House yesterday, informants said.

The American and British leaders were faced with a decision whether the United Nations should write off Korea completely.

The unqualified decision was "no," the source said.

A United Nations withdrawal from Korea was discussed as a last resort only.

TRY TO HOLD LINE
The policy is, if possible, to stabilize the military situation by getting up a defence line in the north.

MacArthur's forces can hold against Chinese Communist pressure—and then to negotiate a settlement with the Peiping authorities if possible, the source said.

Truman and Attlee were said to have agreed to try to avoid taking any action which might touch off a war against Communist China.

Must Build Up Europe Power
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee today were reported to agree toward an agreement that the west must build up heavy military forces in Europe with all possible speed to offset retreat in Korea.

The president was to meet the British prime minister at lunch, before holding their second conference yesterday in the cabinet room of the White House.

Executive offices less than seven hours after the British leader arrived here from London. They were flanked by diplomatic and military policy makers and aides.

BRADLEY REPORTS
Truman opened the session by asking Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, to report on the military situation in Korea and the Far East.

Bradley is understood to have stressed the extreme gravity of the situation in Korea and the United Nations forces under massive attacks by Chinese Communist troops.

MacArthur estimated yesterday that they number 1,000,000 in Korea. He noted that the Chinese appeared uncertain whether a new defence line can be established and held.

TO GET UNDERSTANDING
A joint statement issued after the White House session apparently was designed to counter reports of sharp Anglo-American differences over Korea and Communist China. In effect it predicted that Truman and the prime minister would conclude their talks with full understanding on major issues.

The statement declared that a "frank discussion" stressed the determination of the two leaders to arrive at a "mutual understanding" of the serious problems facing the United Kingdom and the U.S., as well as by other members of the UN.

Canada itself is unlikely to become a primary target for aerial bombardment because of the extreme range of aircraft involved, the general said.

Public buildings and homes with good basements will be depended on largely for shelter if atomic attack is launched. The federal government does not plan to distribute Anderson type shelters, he said.

LEGION SUPPORTS
Full support of Canadian Legion in any way possible, in all parts of the province, was offered to today's organization meeting of Edmonton's civil defence administration.

George Glover, president of Alberta Command, made the offer at a meeting of the city's civil defence committee, which also included J. C. Jefferson, controller of civil defence for the city.

Leduc Gas Company Blamed After Inquest

chief provincial coroner Dr. Max Cantor, who presided over the inquest, had summarized the tangle of evidence.

CAUSE OF BLAST

The verdict said the explosion was the result of natural gas entering the hotel basement through an unsealed pipe. The findings stated the gas came through the main from the regulator station operated by Leduc Utilities, with Gray in charge.

Read out by Jury Foreman Orville Taylor, Leduc druggist, the verdict further stated that Gray "let 4,000 cubic feet of gas enter the distribution system without having adequate and necessary knowledge of the open or closed state of the No. 1 valve" (from the regulating station).

Gray also failed to "fully acquaint himself with the method of sealing the regulating meter in the station," the verdict charged.

In addition, the verdict said, the work of installing the gas system in Leduc by Wilson and Wilson, contractors, "had not been complete."

INSPECTION ASKED

The jury recommended the board of public utility commissioners "develop a scheme of inspection, not only of the completed gas service, but also of qualification and competence of persons employed in gas installation."

Earlier, Dr. Cantor had recommended that such a rider be added to the verdict the jury was then about to consider.

Final statement in the jury's verdict was that, if the town of Leduc continue to use the Leduc mains through the Leduc regulating station for at least 12, and probably 25 minutes, "Dr. Cantor told the jury."

In a 20-minute address to the jury the chief coroner emphasized at one point "that is not an indictment against gas."

"This valuable commodity has been and will be a boon to house-holders," he said. "But we are dealing with a dangerous product by its very nature. Steps must be taken to make this great natural resource safe."

QUANTITY OF GAS

"The evidence is that gas from Devon went into the Leduc mains through the Leduc regulating station for at least 12, and probably 25 minutes," Dr. Cantor told the jury.

He described the death of the ten disaster victims as "appalling" caused by the intense heat of a conflagration.

The chief coroner said "a total of 4,000 cubic feet of gas was sent into a system that had a capacity of 1,600 cubic feet overall."

"Since two of the unsealed pipes were closed off after the gas started coming through, the bulk of the 4,000 feet entered the hotel basement unadvised."

Chief witness yesterday in the closing hours of the inquest was James Park, provincial public utility inspector for the board of public utility commissioners.

Park is the man who must say now when the gas will be turned into Leduc for the second time. He has been conducting an inspection of the system since the disaster.

He told the jury he had written Gray a letter expressing dissatisfaction with the way some of the installations in the Leduc system were being laid out and suggesting that the contractors needed further instruction.

After the letter was sent the condition was apparently remedied, Park stated.

He cited as an example of unsatisfactory work the laying of some gas pipe 18 inches above the bottom of the ditch and the back filling of the trenches by a bulldozer, which might affect the position of the pipe.

Park said he had conducted an air test of the Leduc system and was going to carry out a similar test of the "whole system" before any gas would be turned on.

The government inspector said "if the program outlined by Gray had been carried out, it would have met my approval."

At the start of the inquest Gray had testified that he intended to let gas into the system only to the first valve and purge the air out of the section by letting it escape through appliances in installations.

He was then going to follow the same plan out, section by section until the whole system had been purged, he said.

Park said the plan was satisfactory, but that Gray had said there had been no inspection of six-inch and four-inch valves "cut in" to the main after its original installation.

It seemed certain that a number of civil servants were following the verdict yesterday and the action taken against Gray and the utility company.

CLAIM OVER $100,000

Counsel for the hotel owners John Megley and Fred Hayduck said they would enter a claim in excess of $100,000 for "damages are not paid."

The advent of what may be a no-draws courtroom wrangle is another chapter in the so-called Leduc gas venture which has suffered a number of delays since the franchise was first granted to Leduc Utilities.

Shortages of materials and labor have plagued the company, evidence showed, in its efforts to meet a deadline date of Nov. 15.

The plight of many house-holders who had converted their heating units to natural gas and faced unheated homes if the gas service was not ready by winter also exerted pressure on the company, representatives said.

LEGION REQUEST

Gray has been quoted as saying he wanted to get the gas turned on in the first section, on Nov. 11, because of a request from the Canadian Legion Hall for gas heat at special Remembrance Day Celebrations.

The 4,000 cubic feet of gas turned into the main that day turned the celebrations into an spectacle of death and destruction from which the town is just beginning to recover.

Clearly established from the inquest evidence were the facts that there had been no official announcement the gas was turning on, and that no co-ordinated plan had been worked out to determine positively all valves in the system were closed the morning of Nov. 11.

Less clear was the question of whether or not Gray had asked contractors' employee Fred Tokarek at the regulating station that morning if the valves were shut off.

EVIDENCE CONFLICTS

Gray said he did ask Tokarek and the answer was "yes."

Tokarek said he was at home all morning and could not have been at the regulating station to answer questions.

Both witnesses had support from other witnesses.

Also certain from the evidence was the fact that a check of the LONDON, Dec. 5.—(Reuters)—The King will make his customary Christmas broadcast to the people of Britain and the Commonwealth at 3 p.m. London time (8 a.m. MST) Dec. 25, it was announced yesterday.

Man to Die For Slaying

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(CP)—Stanley Buckowski, 24, wanted in Toronto for a 1949 slaying, was sentenced yesterday to death in San Quentin prison's gas chamber for a Los Angeles murder.

Buckowski, also known as Frank Miller, was convicted of killing Mrs. Edna Edwards, 24, when she was strangled last Feb. 1 in a burglary attempt here. Buckowski's wife, Edna, was also a victim of the slaying. She testified that her husband left her as they went for a walk, and returned a little later saying "I had to shoot."

Buckowski also was wanted in Toronto to face a charge of killing Albert Young, a bystander, during a robbery attempt in 1949. Canadian authorities tried to extradite him and have a hold order in case he ever should be freed of the charges here.

Brief Mention

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(CP)—Tans, official Russian news agency, yesterday reported Prime Minister Attlee's journey to Washington in one sentence: "The British Prime Minister, Attlee, arrived in Washington yesterday."

valves ordered by contractor foreman Reg Rault and being carried out by Tokarek and the men under him, was only 60 per cent complete in some installations.

Further, some main valves were not located, others were exposed.

There was no evidence Tokarek had been told to shut them.

A statement that the whole gas system was in an "incomplete condition" was almost the last piece of evidence heard at the inquest.

It was given by Joe Schultz, Leduc gas inspector, the men who may be in danger in view of the jury's risk about "fully qualified gas inspectors."

DID NOT COMPLAIN

Schultz described himself as a journeyman automotive mechanic and said he had done some pipe fitting, carpentering and other jobs in the Leduc district for years.

He told the jury yesterday he didn't complain about the incomplete installations "because it was none of my affair."

His statement was perhaps characteristic of the lag that appeared from the evidence to exist in the overall correlation of principals connected with the Leduc gas system.

Oddly, the identity of the person who actually put the unsealed pipe into the Leduc Hotel and so accomplished an important bit of "sneaky" work as elements of the system were built up, has not so far been established.

RCMP Arrange Crime To Trap Men Is Claim

Charges that the RCMP had used an arranged crime to trap two city men in a break-in at a Devon garage last Oct. 17 were made Monday by defence lawyers at the men's trials.

representing Edward "Red" Wilson and Robert Morgan, made the charges after their clients had been surrounded. They were charged with breaking and entering and wounding an officer, Corporal C. Klippek, one of the arresting officers, was cut in the head by a saw by one of the men as they attempted to escape.

Wilson was also sentenced to five months concurrent for stealing a blanket.

Mr. Miller alleged the RCMP had used an "agent provocateur" in the case.

Miller stated there were seven RCMP officers waiting at Devon for the men to enter the garage. He also claimed the "agent" waited in a car down the street and that his men arranged the crime and that he should be arrested.

Wilson and Morgan were captured as they attempted to bolt to safety.

Cost of Living Index Levels Off In October

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—(CP)—The inflationary climb in living costs, continuing uninterrupted since April last, was brought to a halt in October. It was broken by some price "free" Canadian dollar.

The Bureau of Statistics yesterday reported that because of lower prices for some foods and fuel, offsetting price climbs in other goods, the index in October remained unchanged at 110.7, the peak reached the previous month. The index is based on 1953-54 prices equalling 100.

With the exception of April, the index has been climbing since January, making eight spurts in the first nine months.

October was the first month in which the "free" Canadian dollar operated. The bureau said lower prices for coal and coke improved the index.

Wholesale farm product prices also moved higher. The composite weekly index advanced 0.9 points to 112.3 on Nov. 24, compared with 111.4 on Oct. 27.

Wholesale food prices registered a slight advance during November, rising to 110.0 on Nov. 24, compared with 108.3 on Oct. 27. The bureau said that since November, 1949, the index had increased 4.2 per cent. It is based on 1953 prices equalling 100.

FOOD DOWN

Among the six price groups that go into compilation of the index, the food sub-index change was the most significant.

For the first time in 1950, the food group declined, to 218.6 from the peak of 220.1. In October last year the index stood at 202.3.

The fuel and light group slipped 0.4 points to 140.5 from a high of 141.0. Last year it stood at 125.1. All other groups climbed, and all to peak levels.

Rent, surveyed on a quarterly basis, moved up 0.9 points to 136.4 from 135.5; clothing, 1.0 points to 144.5 from 143.5; home furnishings and services, 2.1 points to 174.8 from 172.7.

Perhaps an indication of what may be in store for the Canadian consumer, wholesale prices during November moved up sharply.

There was no major contact reported with the Chinese today. The Eighth Army's retreat on wheels was too fast for the foot-slogging Chinese.

MAY GO TO SEOUL

There was no indication as to where or when the Eighth Army would make a stand. AP Correspondent Leif Erickson, at Eighth Army headquarters, suggested it might go all the way to the Seoul-Incheon area in South Korea, 265 miles south of Pyongyang.

The Sixth Army fired the mounting threat of a flanking move by Chinese swarming down the rugged and lightly-defended centre of the Korean peninsula.

At least seven reported entering a 2,000-man concentration of Red Chinese Tuesday afternoon at Kusan, 50 miles southeast of Pyongyang.

Montana Firm Seeking Gas Export Permission

CALGARY, Dec. 5.—(CP)—Application for a permit to export in a 25-year period, 406 billion cubic feet of natural gas from the Bakewell Lake area in southeastern Alberta to the existing distribution system of the Montana Power Company in Montana, was submitted this morning by McColl-Frontenac Oil Company Ltd., and Union Oil Company of California, to the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board.

The hearing of the application will be continued today. McColl-Frontenac and Union Oil discovered four distinct oil fields in the past seven years in the south-east corner of the province at Black Butte, Fossil, D'Oroville, Smith Coulee and Manyberries.

78-MILE SYSTEM

He said that by the construction of a 78-mile gathering system in Alberta at a cost of $175,000 and the construction of a 39-mile main transmission line in Montana at a cost of $1,500,000 it would be possible to make available the Alberta gas to the distribution system of his company.

18 PRODUCED GAS

Forty nine wells were drilled at a cost of $1,429,645 and 18 of those wells produced gas.

Hugh H. Beach, geologist, estimated that there were 48.5 billion cubic feet of gas in the four fields of which 48.2 billion were recoverable and 406 billion were marketable.

J. E. Corlette, Jr., of Butte, Mont., vice-president of the Montana Power Company, said his company was prepared to take all gas not required locally from the Bakewell Lake area.

He said the company presently had 32,000 customers using natural gas from the Bakewell and Dry Creek fields in Montana, and had

add a pinch of bauxite

It is a recipe for a bigger, richer, more comfortable Canada.

The "pinch" is scores of shiploads of the red earth—bauxite—from British Guiana.

A three-thousand-mile ocean journey ends at Port Alfred on the Saginaw River. Then the bauxite goes by rail to the electrical "kitchen" at Arvida a few miles away.

There aluminum is refined from the bauxite by using electricity provided by harnessing the same Saginaw.

You see, the Saginaw provides two essentials for making aluminum—deep water for cargo ships and catamarans for power—within a few miles of one another.

Standing on the dock at Port Alfred, you see something unique. You watch freight cars filled with bauxite disappear over a hill and return with shining aluminum. The process of turning bauxite into aluminum has added Port Alfred and the city of Arvida to Canada's living space, and opened new opportunities for thousands of Canadians.

Police Recover Loot, Three Juveniles Held

Police said they had cleared up the mystery of recent shop break-ins in the northeast section of the city with the arrest of three juveniles last night and the recovery of hundreds of dollars of loot.

The boys were arrested at 10:30 p.m. by D. R. McNaughton, provincial director of boys' activities.

The arrests clear up more than 10 break-ins in the Highlands district in the last three weeks. Two of the boys are 14, the other 15.

More than a thousand dollars of goods from the stores was recovered and police expect to find a great deal more.

BETWEEN WALLS
The loot found last night, was hidden between the walls of a garage behind the home of one of the boys. Other goods were also found beneath floor boards of the garage. Another cache was found in a nearby shack.

Police stated that the youths were kept in gunny sacks. More than $200 worth of cigarettes, two rifles, pens, pencils, films and watches were taken.

An additional cache was found in the home of one of the boys after he had raided the cache while the others were sleeping.

The boys, held in the Optimal Home, have not yet been charged.

Public Co-operation Vital In Inflation Fight—B. C. Gardner

Bank of Montreal President Reviews Anti-Inflation Responsibilities of Business, Public and Government—Strong Action Needed

GORDON BALL, GENERAL MANAGER, ADVISES CLOSE SCRUTINY BY BUSINESS OF INVENTORIES, CREDIT EXTENSION, PLANT EXPANSION IN RESPONSE TO CAPITAL RESOURCES

MONTREAL, Dec. 4.—While 1960 has been a year of continued progress in Canada's business and industry, life inflationary pressures of growing proportions are becoming a matter of grave concern, according to B. C. Gardner, president of the Bank of Montreal, who addressed the 133rd annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association here last night.

The solution, he said, lies not alone in the hands of government, but in the conduct of businessmen and of the public. "The Canadian's defence program," he said, "should not be regarded as a 'business as usual' project, and advocated a 'pay-as-you-go' plan."

The bank's 1960-as-you-go plan, he said, is based on the fact that the government, who reported record figures for the year of $2,100,000,000. This was a record figure for an annual report, as was also the amount for deposits—$2,000,000,000. Savings and current account figures, he noted, had risen more than 1,800,000 in Canada—an increase of over half-million in the past six years.

Quick assets, with investment holdings of more than $1 billion, were reported at $1,002,000,000. Current assets to 76.2 per cent of all bank liabilities to the public. Current loans, at the end of the year, stood at $1,000,000,000, were up $41 million over the year.

REASONED CONFIDENCE
Summing up the 1960 economic picture, Mr. Gardner said that the year's developments "have once again confirmed the view of those at home and abroad, who have maintained a reasoned confidence in the Canadian business outlook and in this country's impressive long-run potentialities."

But there were shadows ahead, he pointed out, the present situation. "We live today in an eerie twilight, not between peace and war but between cold war and all-out struggle," he commented. "The world is a dangerous place for peace we must meet the exigencies of the present moment, as best we may, prepare for what the future may bring."

The claims of inflation and the danger program upon manpower and materials, Mr. Gardner said, came when demand for consumer and capital goods was already "pressing heavily upon the ceiling of available supply." Thus, the requirements of partial nationalization, while relatively mild, would be inflation to a degree far out of proportion to their size.

DRAWBACKS OF CONTROLS
The anti-inflationary methods of complete nationalization appeared inappropriate at present, the president continued. "To control price also meant regulating supply; restricting demand through rationing and rationing through wage and salary ceilings; protecting domestic prices against increases in import costs; plus obtaining public acceptance of the restrictions involved. To attempt all this now could introduce 'serious elements of friction' into the economy."

However, national security at this critical stage could not, he said, be maintained "on the cheap." Increased use of manpower and materials for defence inevitably demanded some readjustment of life standards. To attempt the strains and injustices of inflation, this readjustment would mean curtailing the understanding, level-headedness and co-operation of people in all walks of life behind war and foreign government policy.

As to governmental responsibility, Mr. Gardner stated that a strict "pay as you go" plan was best suited to the time. This would require the courage to cut off the funds of government expenditure unmercifully and to present an uncompromising front to demands from any quarter for unnecessary expenditures.

PUBLIC CO-OPERATION VITAL
Intelligent public co-operation was "vitally necessary" to provide a smooth transition from a free economy to partial mobilization, he said. "Hoarding, or panic-buying by producers and consumers, and hoarding, but when the economy. However, national security could only be achieved if those concerned with collective bargaining and industry-union relations had a high sense of public responsibility. Widespread attempts to obtain 'increases in living costs' in proportion to increasing living costs and without corresponding gains in productivity would achieve nothing but a wage-price spiral—a race to one with the other."

History Must Not Repeat

With a firm determination to preserve the peace, Prime Minister Clement Attlee arrives in the United States for conversations with President Truman.

The world can only hope that the peace he wishes to preserve is not that futile and dangerous kind called "peace at any price."

Peace is one of the great objectives of mankind. Everybody hopes for it. Everybody prays for it.

But true peace is not living on the edge of a precipice in fear, but in confidence. True peace cannot include giving away one's self-respect without which there can be no peace.

True peace was never the fruit of appeasement, never in human history.

So it is with great perturbation that observers find a parallel, in some respects, between the hurried trip of Mr. Attlee to Washington in 1950 and the hurried trip of Neville Chamberlain to Munich in September 1938.

One does not fear that the shrewd Mr. Attlee will commit a piece of folly either as high-minded or as monumental as that perpetrated by the bumbling Mr. Chamberlain.

Nevertheless, there is a sinister likeness between Chamberlain giving away Surrender to Hitler to postpone war and Attlee's intent on appeasing Red China for the same purpose.

We must not use the atom bomb, says Mr. Attlee. We must not declare war against China. We must not irritate Russia into making any aggressive move.

No one wants to do any of these things. But how far can we allow the Russian satellites to go?

If there must be war, is there any sense in postponing it while Russia piles up greater atomic power?

It is not admitted that there must be war.

But in Russia there is the will to war. And there is no surer way to promote and precipitate it than by creating the notion in Russia's mind, through appeasement, that we are either afraid to fight or incapable of fighting.

For the Benefit of 'Shut-Ins'

To form an Edmonton society to work with and for physically handicapped and shut-in persons, the Council of Community Services has issued an invitation to individuals and organizations to attend a meeting in the Civic Recreation building next Friday night.

There is no argument about the fact that much can be done to assist most of these persons in ways that will enable them to live more interesting, satisfying and useful lives than is possible at present without such help.

In this city, a great deal of this work is being done privately by individuals and groups.

The Council of Community Services believes that this work could be amplified and made more effective by the formation of a single cooperative society for the purpose.

This reasoning, of course, is entirely sound. Just as charitable work as a whole has been greatly broadened by such organizations as the Council of Community Services, so can the welfare of shut-ins be given much greater consideration and care by organized effort.

The Council is anxious to have every interested group in the city represented at this Friday meeting.

The Council should have its wish. This is a magnificent opportunity to give social service of the highest type.

It is particularly appropriate, not only to the needs of the city, but to the season of the year.

Attlee Is Not 'Chief of State'

Of all the offensive errors made by news services, that which was supplied over the weekend to radio stations and which described Prime Minister Clement Attlee as British "chief of state" was most stupid and misleading.

"Chief of state" was a term used, if not invented, by fascist countries during the late war to describe a person in whom was focussed all totalitarian power. Petain, for example, was chief of state in Vichy France.

Thus, historically, the phrase has an unpleasant connotation.

Aside from this malodorous connotation, the words in themselves imply the man or woman who is head of the nation or head of the government.

In Britain, as in Canada, only the King is head of the nation or head of the government.

It is particularly appropriate, not only to the needs of the city, but to the season of the year.

Thus, strictly speaking and if you must use the term, the King is chief of state.

To call Mr. Attlee chief of state is to hand out insults right and left. This use implies that:

1. That Mr. Attlee is a dictator.

2. That the King is under Mr. Attlee.

3. That Britain is a fascist nation.

How dreadful can a news broadcast get?

Heavier Taxation for Canadians

Higher taxation for Canadians is forecast by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent who declares that the security of Canada demands much higher expenditures on defence.

Canadians will agree with him that the safety of this country and its people is worth anything. But to have the cost of defence, many will go further and enquire why defence expenditures have lagged over the past three years to a point where Canada, in comparison with the other major powers, is comparatively unprepared at a moment of crisis.

But an increase in taxation that imposes an additional burden on the people should not be even considered unless the government itself is prepared to operate within the utmost economy and to guarantee that not one cent is being uselessly spent.

Such a guarantee would include some serious house-searching in the matter of social services.

Canadians are asked, inferentially, to make a choice between guns and butter. It is not the choice of guns and butter that we consider a possible choice between guns and baby bonuses.

ODDS AND ENDS

Archbishops Should Not Try to Run Newspapers

I assume that Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, Archbishop of Canterbury and Primate of All England, is a competent and highly trained priest, fulfilling his ecclesiastical function in the Church with piety and efficiency.

When I presume to make these pleasant things about Dr. Geoffrey Fisher I am doing so because Dr. Geoffrey Fisher is a clergyman, not an editor.

On the contrary, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher says that I am indiscreet, (b) uneducated and (c) a liar.

Of course Dr. Geoffrey Fisher did not say these compliments personally. Dr. Geoffrey Fisher's uncles have a phenomenal memory, doesn't know I am alive. But he said these things about newspapers and newspapermen, which includes me.

I am sorry I cannot delight Dr. Geoffrey Fisher by immediately tendering my resignation from this horrible profession, letting just what I am and I rather like my job.

I think Dr. Geoffrey Fisher would be a much better Archbishop of Canterbury than he would be as a newspaperman and other organisations would do well to consider this in running his communion.

I don't recall the late Archbishop Temple was one of the towering figures of his age.

Lower Standard

I realize that the standards of journalism in England, having deteriorated sadly in the past 20 years, are much lower than the standards of journalism in Canada.

But his Grace of Canterbury did not deny that he was in England in his attack. He just said newspapers period.

He says they distort the news in headlines, which means they are liars.

He says they misreport speeches, which means they are inefficient.

And he says that newspaper reporters should be much better educated.

As I recall it, the kind of the diocese of Toronto made similar cracks about the press two or three years ago. Whereupon I asked him to give me a list of the names of the newspapers and newspapermen he was so kind to mention.

He said that I engaged in a very much one-sided issue with his Grace of Canterbury a few months ago when he was pounding the Roman communion for making a dogma of the doctrine of the immaculate conception his own divinity college in Canterbury was teaching the most "obscure" priest, such as the doctrine that Christ was not born.

Some Truth

So far as his Grace's specific charges are concerned, I know that headlines are sometimes

Magazine Ban

Editor, Bulletin—Many alone people are protesting the banning from our newsstands of illustrated magazines featuring vulgar, suggestive photographs. Suggestive of what? Suggestive of the unnatural view of life that has disappeared from our vocabulary. The habit is described in now called "free love" or some such subversive name. But it is beside the point.

The main objection to the ban seems to be that it violates our civil liberties and that it reads these publications cannot harm the minds of those who are either too young or mature enough to read them. But these two objections evade the issue completely.

One who has been taken out of whether or not the reader will be harmed by illustrations, says "These shall not commit adultery." When the commandment was given to the "adultery" included more than illicit relations between married people that husband and wife. It included any attack on the sanctity of marriage.

Great Regret

Editor, Bulletin—It was with great regret I first heard of Mayor Parsons' illness which will require his lordship to take a three-month rest in Arizona.

We should all feel concerned over our mayor's illness and no doubt this rest is the best course to follow. However, to take such a pleasant holiday at the expense of the taxpayer is to say the least a little bold.

We are establishing a most unsatisfactory precedent in giving special privileges to a chosen few. What do we do with the twenty-six other civic employees who suffer from asthma?

In certain Mayor Parsons is financially capable of taking this holiday without pay. Let's take his salary, break it up into 15 parts, give one part to each of 15 needy families. They will have a better and happier Christmas and be thankful they are Edmontonians.

Shaw, Even to the Last Wrote the Unexpected

The last significant act of writing that George Bernard Shaw did was an exchange with an 18-year-old Scot—a conscientious objector. Shaw was always doing the unexpected—and did so as late as August 1, 1950, when he replied Don James Dicksen of Glasgow:

Dear Sir: That engages in war, rightly or wrongly, is like a ship that has struck a breaker and is leaking.

The order must be "All hands to the pumps," no matter how faulty or wicked the navigators may have been. You and your family and your neighbors must shoot or be shot. Pacificist must do all they can to prevent war; but if it nevertheless breaks out, it is too late to do anything but fight.

In 1914 Conscientious Objectors who would not fight on any terms were persecuted ruthlessly; but those who declared themselves pacifists were not for any cause they considered just, got off easily.

You must judge for yourself, nobody can advise you to be a Conch. G. Bernard Shaw.

One of the writers who has brought me to this point of view is a certain Mr. George Bernard Shaw who wrote:

Shaw, finding that he had been tricked into a public debate through private correspondence, replied:

James Dicksen, aged 18, is a Scot. Shaw wrote him a long letter, striking the rocks and springs a leak of the "All hands to the pumps." Nobody but a born fool skulks below. . .

"All hands to the pumps" was a deep insult. The main point of Shaw's writings was that the way to abolish war, and that way to abolish the institutions which made them inevitable.

Korean, American Losses Heaviest

U.S. Claims Three Services Have Had 31,784 Casualties

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—With the exception of the Koreans themselves, the United States has contributed the most and suffered by far the greatest casualties in the United Nations war to turn back Communist aggression in Korea.

The total number of Americans fighting on the ground in Korea is estimated at about 100,000. Probably about 20,000 more naval and air force men have been engaged. The total casualties of all three services total 31,784, including 4,709 killed, 21,900 wounded and 5,078 missing. These casualties include only those whose next-of-kin had been notified up to Dec. 4.

Unofficial estimates have placed the number in the Republic of Korea army at about 100,000. The Korean defense minister said Dec. 2 he believed nearly 1,000,000 South Korean soldiers, police and civilians had died. He did not disclose how he arrived at the estimate.

Previously, President Syngman Rhee had given a rough estimate of 200,000 military and 200,000 civilian deaths. His estimate was based on the reports of government, magazine and police.

Five other countries have about 17,000 men in action in Korea. Available reports, admittedly incomplete, indicate they have suffered about 349 casualties.

COMPARISONS HARD

These figures would indicate that the United States has furnished about six times as many men for the ground fighting as the other UN allies and has suffered more than 90 times as many casualties.

Exact comparisons cannot be made, however. Naval contributions to the UN force have come from 10 countries, including Canada. The ships of seven have seen combat action. The manpower involved in these contributions is not available in most cases.

Likewise, six member countries have contributed air assistance. The aircraft of four have been in action. How many men are in the air forces also is not available in most cases.

Moreover, there is no central clearing agency for casualties. Each national unit reports to its own government on its losses. Some of the available figures on casualties are two weeks or more old.

HEAVY ACTION

Since they become available some of the units, especially the Commonwealth Brigade and the Turkish Brigade, have been involved in heavy fighting north of Pyongyang, the former North Korean capital, in the retreat before the Chinese Communist onslaught.

Except for the United States and Korea, Canada has committed the largest number of men to the fighting. An advance party of 340 already has landed. About 1,000 men are en route and the bulk of the 11,000-man force is training at Fort Lewis, Wash. The RCAF already has a transport squadron helping with the airlift to Korea.

The Royal Canadian Navy has three destroyers—the Athabaskan, Stour and Cayuga—with a total of 50 men, assisting the UN in the Pacific. No casualties have been reported so far for any Canadian unit present.

Xmas Tree Industry Now a Big Business

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—(CP)—The Christmas tree has grown into a $250,000 Canadian industry.

Canada produced almost 11,000 trees in the 1949-50 season, exporting some 7,000,000 of them for the holiday season of $2,500,000. The rest went into Canadian homes. The sale probably will be larger this Christmas.

This profit for the Christmas tree trade has become big business. The industry furnished when employment where and when it was most desired.

"Finally," said the report, "the emotional and inspirational value of the Christmas tree custom is so great that its preservation might well be worth some sacrifice from the conservation standpoint."

The report says this growth of the Christmas tree industry is a good thing, despite "attacks" aimed at the industry from time to time. Actually there are only two kinds of Christmas tree cutters whose actions are harmful—those who cut illegally in excess of the demand and those who destroy older trees to sell the top, said the report.

These operators—very small in number—are rapidly disappearing with the advent of Christmas tree plantations and orderly marketing systems.

The departmental report says the industry allowing farmers to make a profit in clearing otherwise-useless trees from pasture land. Forests which required thinning could be thinned at the

McCallum Wins With Final Spurt

Discharged City Detective Defeats Mayor In London

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—(CP)—Ontario voters in municipal elections yesterday produced at least one hair-raising finish, one melodramatic victory and a sharp reversal of what had seemed a trend toward province-wide favoring of Sunday sport.

Hiram McCallum, 50-year-old owner of a printing business, produced a last-gasp sport that landed him his fourth consecutive term as mayor of Toronto.

Ahead of him most of the time—6,000 votes at one point—was Allan Lamport, 46, member of the board of control, who during his election campaign had sharply criticized a move to amalgamate Toronto and suburban municipalities. But Mr. Lamport was second best at the end.

The final vote was: Mayor McCallum 86,491, Lamport 84,587.

Allan J. Rush produced the melodrama by getting himself elected in London, Mr. Rush, a police detective for 16 years, was fired this summer. One of the men he defeated was Mayor George A. Wenig, head of the police commission which dismissed Mr. Rush and then refused to give a reason. Mr. Wenig, seeking a 19th term, ran third.

SUNDAY SPORT
Last year Sunday sport was introduced in Toronto, Windsor and nine smaller centres. But the by-law was knocked down at Guelph, Kitchener, Waterloo, St. Catharines, Sudbury, Brockville, Wausau and Cobourg. Only the town of Essex and the township of Sandwich West approved commercialized sports Sunday afternoon.

Before yesterday's balloting, Sunday sport had been defeated in only one such plebiscite in the last year.

Ontario provided two surprises. Its mayor for the last two years, E. A. Bourque, lost in a bid for re-election to Grenville Goodwin, Dr. Charlotte Whitton, nationally-known social worker and writer.

HEY, WHAT'S HE SAYING?

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—(CP)—Bramwell Moore, testifying at the trial of a man accused of drunk driving, said yesterday: "Yes, he was drunk." How did Moore know?
"I see many drunk men in my business!"
"I'm in the ladies' coat business!"

South Korean Leaders Against Dropping Bomb

SEOUL, Korea, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Defence Minister Suh Sung Mo, denying some published reports, said yesterday: "I have not made any request to the United Nations that the atom bomb be used. However, I feel its use would prove effective in stopping the Chinese invasion."

Asked what his position was, President Syngman Rhee replied: "If the bomb were dropped, who would get hurt? Our own people. It's entirely in the hands of the military leaders—they will know what to do and what not to do."

A British firm is producing from crude oil products a synthetic fibre claimed to feel like silk.

Miracle Drug Cause Of Miraculous Recovery

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 5.—(AP)—An almost-whole man—75 per cent of his skin had been burned away—was saved from death by the wonder hormone ACTH, the American Medical Association was told today.

It was a near-miracle that he lived. Loss of half your skin is almost always a painful death sentence. But there were six other near-miracles, an exhibit and pictures by Dr. M. James Whitehead of Phoenix, Ariz., showed.

The man was freed from dreadful pain. He escaped shock and poisoning. He had relatively little scarring. He escaped the crippling of muscles that comes with contracted scar tissue. And he survived pneumonia and appendicitis.

Perhaps most miraculous of all.

1,000 Homeless
TOKYO, Dec. 5.—(AP)—Three hundred homes were raised and an estimated 1,000 persons left homeless Sunday by a fire in Kagoshima, Japan's southernmost city on Kyushu Island.

Non-Combatants Being Evacuated

SAIGON, Indo-China, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The French high commissioner yesterday ordered all French women and children out of north Indo-China. The evacuation will be speeded by air and sea.
The order stemmed from growing international tension, plus trouble with the Communist-led Vietnamese forces.
The order called for the removal of a new JOYOUS MUSICAL FOR ALL THE FAMILY!

Flint Discovery Gets Thick D-2 Pay Zone

By C. V. Myers

Bulletin Oil Editor

Seoony Duhamel, two miles north of the Flint discovery, has established a pay zone of better than 120 feet in D-2, the thickest D-2 zone so far encountered in Alberta.

The top 85 feet was gas cap. The balance a 34 gravelly oil zone has yielded a well which on the basis of tests is now estimated at 2,000 barrels a day.

The zone was topped at 447 feet. The oil zone came in at 448 feet for a gas zone of about 85 feet. Oil continued to come on test of 22.75. Good feeder steers bringing 24.00 to 25.50, good stocker steers selling at 21.25; cows and steers up to 21.00.

The most southeasterly well in the Redwater field has opened up 110 feet of pay zone in the D-2, and has gone on production with an initial potential flow of 1,331 barrels per day.

Texas-McClintock Redwater No. F-2, a south oil to produce No. F-1, found the top of the D-2 at 321.2 feet, 25 feet higher than No. F-1, and completed at 321.2 feet, an estimated 70 feet above the water line.

The D-3 at Flint was found about 35 feet below the bottom of the D-2 oil zone. Flint is now expected to drill on for the coral reef reservoir.

Baron No. 1, which discovered oil in the Bow Island sand, 20 miles northwest of Lethbridge and 10 miles north of the Blood Indian reserve, went on production yesterday morning producing 28 barrels an hour in its first measured flow run.

At the same time Decaria announced the acquisition of 20,000 acres south of the well.

The well is producing from the Bow Island, the great gas producer in southern Alberta, 4,109 to 4,114 barrels a day.

Value of the discovery depends upon the thickness of zone which must remain a question until another well penetrates to the water level.

Meanwhile the initial flash potential has greatly heightened expectations in this part of Alberta. Barons represents the first strike of oil on the southern plains area in several years. Increased southward drilling is expected to result.

The Ram River area in the Central Alberta foothills which at one time shared the oil spotlight has come back into the news again.

The Richard Oil Development Company of Montana has announced its Richard No. 1 and said the well has been spudded on an 8,000-acre block in the Ram River Clearwater district about 100 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Land is slated to be adjacent to ground on which the old Ram River No. 2 found highly encouraging oil shows and in fact produced a small amount of greenish gravelly crude.

PERHAPS CAMBRIAN The oil was at first thought to be Devonian in origin but was later thought to have Cambrian as its source.

The development is about 70 miles west and 20 miles south of the Devonian.

Ethiopia Gets Eritrea Back

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(AP)—The United Nations disposed of the last of Italy's war-laid colonies by voting to federate Eritrea with Ethiopia under Emperor Haile Selassie.

The General Assembly approved the federation scheme by a vote of 48 in favor, 10 against and four abstentions. It knocked down Soviet and Polish demands for Eritrea independence and the withdrawal of British occupation troops.

The plan was sponsored by the United States, Canada and 12 other countries and previously had won the overwhelming approval of the special political committee.

Under the scheme, federation will be completed by Sept. 15, 1952, with British forces to remain in the territory until that time.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Bentley Paces NHL Point Derby

TORONTO, Dec. 5.—Toronto's Max Bentley picked up only one point in two week-end games but he still leads the National Hockey League's individual scoring race.

Jim Coleman

Mr. Thomas Bird, the eminent hockey and chess expert, flicked a morsel of yogurt from his cravat this morning and remarked that only 172 days remain before the 92nd running of The King's Plate, an event fashioned for three-year-old horses whose legitimacy has been established by The Jockey Club.

Mr. Bird's observation might seem a bit incongruous at a time when many frost-bitten Canadians are thinking of Santa Claus, or a Florida beach liberally sprinkled with blondes in Riviera bathing suits.

Mr. Bird is a man with a stopwatch in every pocket and is rumored to have clocked Genghis Khan's steeds on the Mongol wastes and dismounted at a moment's notice. He timed Hannibal's elephants crossing the Alps.

Mr. Bird's observation is apt if you consider that last week, nominations for Canada's richest running-horse race were declared closed and, once again, the list is dominated by entries from Ontario. Although The King's Plate was opened up to all Canadian seven-year-olds, the invaders from Quebec and Western Canada have been notably chary of accepting the lure.

To date, the most formidable challengers of Ontario's domination have come from Jim Speers, Pine River farm near Carleton Place, and Lord Fairmount, a distant second to Last Mark, despite Johnny Longden's frantic urging in 1948.

This year, Sir Strome, another Superiorbred, dropped a photo-finish decision to McGill.

Mr. Bird's trusty scouts have been knocking around the wilderness, bringing him tidings from the habitat of the bison and coyote. The consensus of these reports is that Western Canada's leading candidate for honors in 1951 should be Beau Orage, a colt owned by J. M. "Tiny" Holden, of Midnapore, Alberta.

Beau Orage was five times first and twice second in a total of eight starts last season, a circumstance which will cause him to be viewed favorably by eastern trainers.

Further glance at the records might give the impression that next May's $150,000 race for 30 guineas are at the mercy of Eddie Taylor, the Toronto sportsman who now is continuing his racing activities to Canada. Mr. Bird, though, is inclined to be rather arbitrary in his judgment, and he concedes a real chance to only three of the Taylor colts: winners, Britannia, Mighty and Bessiebell.

It is when he discusses the colts that the ends of birds' bristly moustache bristle and he fixes his moustache as he anticipates violent argument.

He leans slightly to Libertine. Pressed further, he will discuss the name of Angus Binks, a western-bred colt which races for Joe Block, of Toronto.

However, Mr. Bird's real "allegiance" is a blocky colt named Donat which was only a single race for Morris Fishman.

"This son of a buck can't fly," says Bird winking and whispering husily behind his hand.

With all due respect to Mr. Bird, your correspondent submits that the 1951 King's Plate is a ridiculously wide-open race which could be won by any of the 70 or so entries.

Why, right now, you could emulate Vince Sheridan who reached in last winter and bought McGill for fifteen thousand beans and then won the race with him.

Of course, this business of buying a horse for the Plate is strictly a cakewalk game. I bought a horse to win The Plate one year and I still laugh when I think of it. Hat Ave.

Hummm! Still, I wonder if that old blither, Bird, is telling the truth about Donat's ability to be a bad idea to buy a colt like that.

Let's see, I could raise the dough if I hooked my insurance and sold a car and moved and lived in one room, instead of the three big apartment. And we could cut down on one really good day in a week instead of three. That makes out for the Old Battleaxe can wait until top of the Leafs, are tied for second place with 22 points, while Maurice Richard of Montreal, who scored a goal and two assists Sunday, comes next with 18.

Bentley's 21 assists also make him tops in that department, while Sloan's 12 counters give him one goal lead over Richard.

Most penalized player in the league is Gus Morrison of Toronto, who has spent 32 minutes in the penalty box.

Dunn Stiffens Hopper, Gains Fifth Win Locally

By DICK BEDDOES
Dutch Hopper entered the ring colt last night at exactly 10:23. He left it a few minutes later in the same condition, only more so.

For the Dutchman, known as the Minneapolis Man-walker, got himself knocked frig by a shy Hopper.

George Dunn, the time was 2:25 of the second round and Dunn was in a most graceful 1:30 paid a gross gate of $10,672.42 at the Stock Pavilion to witness Dunn ready his opponent for the tannery with an awful hiding. Dunn weighed 138, Hopper 120.

Hopper cannot be used here again because it turned out that he is carnivorous at the dinner table only. In the ring last night he was a quiet vegetable, scarcely managing to wave his mittens at Dunn during the brief spell in which he occupied the stage.

Dunn, a shifty colored man who came this way from Hartford, Conn., was the first round in state style. No solid blows were scored but when the Negro landed a stinging left hook at the horizontal position, but he struggled to speculate that maybe Hopper was overmatched.

After rubbing Dunn briefly may through the second heat, Hopper was forced into his own corner. Dunn sidestepped Hopper's left jab and threw a left hook to the solar plexus.

That punch was the beginning of the end. For Dunn followed this with a right cross to the jaw, sending Hopper to the canvas for a nine count.

The Dutchman would have been wiser to have remained in the horizontal position. But he struggled to his feet to face a barrage of blows which dumped him on his back for another nine count.

Using the ropes for support, Hopper again assumed a vertical position. Dunn uncocked a left hook to the chin, completely unraveling the man from Minnesota.

There was no need for referee Johnny Smith to count again. Hopper was senseless for fully five minutes before his handlers could drag him to a sitting position.

It was Dunn's fifth straight win in an Edmonton ring. And although Mr. Hopper won't like to hear this, the Negro has it considerably tougher on occasion while sparring in the gym.

HOUSE FIRE HALTED BY BOYLE VOLUNTEERS

By DONALD DEPOSE (Bulletin Correspondent)

BOYLE, Dec. 5.—A disaster was averted Sunday night by quick action on the part of Boyle citizens as a fire threatened to destroy the home of P. Korzyban.

Fire started in the basement about 7 p.m. when the only one at home was a teenage daughter, Edith, with some friends.

Smelling smoke, one of the girls opened the basement door, but quickly closed it as smoke and flames poured forth. The girls ran for help and in a matter of minutes a large crowd had assembled.

Although heavy smoke made the situation look hopeless, bucket brigades began dampening the building with snow and water while others ran for extinguishers. Efforts to halt the chimney fire were prevented by the high roof.

After the extinguishers arrived, two men entered the basement and emptied two extinguishers on the conflagration. When the fire seemed almost under control, a new outbreak had to be doused.

Fire is thought to have started near the chimney, but the exact cause is unknown. No insurance was carried on the damaged building.

Let's Find This Dog

Here's a story about a little boy who needs help. His letter tells the story better than I could tell it.

Dear Mr. DeLong:

My Mom says just about everybody reads what you write in The Bulletin, so I am going to ask you if you will help me find my dog.

He got lost a week ago and I miss him so very much.

He is little, long-haired and yellow in color. His name is Goldie and he has his collar on and his tag number is 2270.

I'm lonely without him and I wish someone would find him and bring him to 10630-106 avenue or phone my Mom at 28219.

I've saved up a dollar to give to the nice person who finds him. Mom advertised but nobody answered. I hope you can help me.

Yours Sincerely,
Michael Mahoney,
(age, almost seven.)

PS. I got my Mom to write this letter for me.

It's going to be a pretty big Christmas for Michael if he doesn't get Goldie back.

Tom Murphy, who works at the Macdonald hotel, was 20 minutes late for work the other morning because the driver on his trip.

He was told to chase a wild horse down 95 street and tie said wild horse to post in front of Chequer Lunch.

O. Benedictson, of 10239-159 street, wants to know how long Mrs. Hargreaves (Denver sandwich fame), likes her army boots bolted to her feet.

Somebody made this observation in a note just received:

Will you please state: That people who join pyramid or quiz clubs are not forced into doing so. They go on their own name as anyone trying to make $1,000 for one.

How about buying some Christmas Seals folks? They may help save your life some day.

Elegant Elsie doesn't think she'd like to get on top in a Pyramid Club, because every pyramid she's seen comes to such a sharp point.

15-Year-old Boy Sent To Jail for Burglary

By Barry Broadfoot

A lad whose desire for independence cast him into a world too complex for him to cope with yesterday was sent to prison for 15 months because the province has no suitable institution where his future can be salvaged.

"There is nothing I can do but send you to jail, much as I regret it," said Magistrate S. O. Min to the slight, parkie-eyed youngster in the courtroom today.

"You're still young and your life is before you."

The boy, whose criminal record dates back to 1947 when he was 12 years old, pleaded guilty to three charges of shopbreaking in three of his breakings and two of them in a store that took him from Edmonton to Calgary to Saskatoon, back to Edmonton and out to Winnipeg.

Here it is his story: In February of 1947, he refused to go to school. The same month he was picked up for obtaining money by misrepresentation. In August he broke into a house and stole $30 and fled to Vancouver.

He stole $12 in a break-in in January, 1948 and eight months later was arrested for taking $33 from a city home. In March, 1950, he was placed in the Optimist Home. He was then placed in a job with a city printer and three months later, when he had proved himself and was to get a promotion, he began the spree that landed him in Fort Saskatchewan.

LOOTS HOMES

In October, he broke into two homes here and then went to Calgary where he looted three bars, houses and several other men. He fled to Saskatoon, entered two more homes, was placed on probation and brought back to Edmonton.

In the Optimist Home again, he was a member. Returned again, he was charged on six counts.

What amazed police was that the lad was a lone wolf. All the jobs were done on his own, without aid and without prompting.

As his lawyer said, all the jobs were done on his own, without aid and without prompting.

EDMONTON MEN ARE ELECTED

CALGARY, Dec. 5.—(CP)—T. E. G. Perkins of Calgary was elected president of the provincial advisory board of the North West Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada in elections conducted recently.

Other officers for Alberta are S. A. Farquharson, Edmonton, vice-president; and J. R. Wood, Calgary, treasurer. Directors include T. R. Beaton, W. H. Harper, E. F. Rine and W. E. Thomas, all of Calgary; and A. D. Cooper, L. Milner, and A. P. Shaw, all of Edmonton.

Selection of a Civic Centre Committee was taken out of city commissioners' hands last night and given to city council's nominations committee.

Aldermen took the step after commissioners, through Acting Mayor Bill Hawrick, said they felt the committee rather than commissioners should choose a group to study aspects of future use and development of the area.

The area First New Amsterdams Corporation is building its $25,000,000 Miracle Mile.

VOTED DOWN

After a narrow margin of tax-payers voted down acceptance of the New York corporation's proposal No. 7 (despite a 613 per cent vote in favor), Ald. Ed Clarke moved that council name a representative committee to study future use of the site, bounded by 101st and 104th avenues, between 99 and 100th.

Council's last meeting a week ago instructed Ald. Clarke to talk things over with commissioners and report back on constitution of such a committee.

Last night's session agreed the committee should consist of four aldermen, five citizens at large, the mayor and two commissioners.

Cheque for $1,000 has been presented to Arthur Umbach of Melennan by the Alberta Chapter of the Canadian Foundation for Polio-victims in their drive to rehabilitate victims of polio in the province.

Presentation of the cheque was made by A. Wotherspoon, master mechanic of NAR, to help Umbach, who has been confined to a wheelchair for more than a year by polio, to purchase a house near his job as clerk with the NAR at Melennan.

Hope Fades for Elderly Trapper Missing In B.C.

DAWSON CREEK, B.C., Dec. 5.—Hope was fading today for Martin Kropp, 70-year-old trapper missing in the Rocky Mountains lake area.

The aged trapper, an old-timer in the district, disappeared while on a trip to inspect traplines along the headwaters of Burn River and the Skunkina.

A note left by the missing man in the main cabin, instructed Stephens to arrange for some supplies and mentioned that he would "be back soon."

The five cabin along the trapline had not been used for the past two weeks, reported Percy A. Stephens, trapping partner of the missing man, who missed the 51-mile trip out to civilization to inform police authorities and arrange for a search party.

The missing trapper's three sons, Gordon, Gordon and Mervin Good, left Friday noon by plane to investigate a search of the area.

Now or Never

"Frankly I think we can carry out this plan. It's now or never," he said.

Mr. Hunt said that once the plan starts "it will be surprising how anxious people will be to cooperate."

Contractor Steve Hurdly told the meeting he has already located 150 linear feet of property on 11th Avenue, between 53 and 55 streets, and between 56 and 57 streets, for proposed widening.

City Shown How It Can Save Money

Civic Survey Group Makes Recommendations

Edmonton's civic administration can save an estimated $700,000 annually by installing a central punch card bureau for doing utilities' customer billing, assessor's records and all departments' payroll.

Replacing present manual methods with machines would also give the city a speedier, more flexible system, which would make available a greater fund of statistics.

City council last night heard this statement from Norman Paquette, Vice-president of Stevenson and Kellogg, Vancouver management engineers.

He was presenting his firm's report on its survey of the city's bill, section, assessor's department and payroll records.

Paquette said the former will not sell the equipment, while the latter only rent them.

Other recommendations outlined by Mr. Paquette included:

1. A "central consumer's group" should be set up for handling permits, moves, consumer relations and contacts for the utilities.

2. City management salaries should be put on a proper basis; relation to corresponding levels in commercial enterprises. (Council acted on this.)

3. Study should be made of water meter costs. About 30 per cent of meter cost is due into initial cost of metering.

4. A tax prepayment change should be made. (This has been done already by council.)

5. All tax bill preparation should be centralized in the city assessor's office and the South Side office used only for records.

6. About with centralizing the payroll system in a central punch card bureau, built plan of stamping timepiece insurance books annually should be set up. There is also "break room" for standards.

7. Stevenson and Kellogg are completing a report on purchasing supply procedures, which is expected within another few weeks, said Mr. Paquette.

They are also currently developing the city engineer's department procedures.

Council said to finance committee the theory related to the Hurstons, Adkins, Machine Company's annual order for $100,000 worth of customer billing machines, which commissioners ordered cancelled in August and offered compensation for.

Civil Defence Appointee Is Confirmed by Council

Appointment of Brig. J. C. Jefferson as full-time Civil Defence Co-ordinator for Edmonton was confirmed last night by city council.

Brig. Davidson, senior officer in the civil administration, was named co-ordinator.

It is a year.

Making both recommendations to council, Acting Mayor Bill Hawrick said that Brig. Jefferson, an executive of Northwestern Utilities Ltd. here, will serve the city on a dollar a year basis.

"An army officer with a brilliant record, Brig. Jefferson is being loaned to the city as well as having an intimate knowledge of our utility set-up and of the public relations which must be done in civil defence," he said.

Industry has thus made a contribution to the city as well as to the civil administration which will have to ask both industry and citizens for further contributions, he added.

Brig. Jefferson headed the Edmonton Regiment in Sicily and Italy, and later examined a bridge in Norway.

Mr. Davidson, added one of the first courses in civil defence to be given early this fall at Camp H.

PACKAGING THE "ROCK MOUNT" LINE

A GREAT WESTERN INDUSTRY

The name of Alberta is stirring the imagination of the world. Venturesome and enterprising, its people are of the breed of empire builders, moulding a niche in world affairs from fabulously rich natural resources. World leader in quality grain, famous for its stock-raising and packing industry, it now ranks as the newest frontier of oil and natural gas, presaging an era of enormous industrial growth.

Wherever men of oil meet from Beirut to Venezuela, from Texas to Baku, the names of Turner Valley, Leduc, Redwater, Woodbend, Conrad and Taber are already renowned.

Alberta Distillers, Limited is proud of its decision to establish Canada's most modern distillery in this province. Rarely are so many favorable factors so readily accessible for the creation of this type of industry as exist in Alberta... raw materials, power, fuel and heat, abundant water supply, glass, transportation, disposal of by-products and proximity to markets.

These, backed by the know-how of three generations in the distilling industry, soundly financed and directed, have established Alberta Distillers, Limited as a truly great Western Industry. By winning for itself a place in world markets, it will increase its contribution to the west and further carry the name and fame of Alberta to the far corners of the universe.

Bulletin Safety Club

Our content, now on, will ask questions on safety rules, such as the meaning of red and green in traffic lights.

Now every child knows the colors red and green.

But did you know that colors have a language of their own? Old Man Red has a terrific temper—you hardly ever see him unless he is a real mad about something.

Take a fire, for instance. At first there is only smoke. Then, suddenly, Old Man Red breaks through and climbs higher and higher, and pretty soon he eats up everything in sight.

Now, Mother Green is different. So sweet and soft-looking she says, "come along now children, everything is clear now."

Mother Green is full of kindness. She can be seen every spring all over the place in green grass and green leaves.

Nature is tinged with her soft, soothing green.

How could any other color be chosen for safety?

"Red" and "Green" play a very important part in your lives when you are on a street.

NO LIGHTS

But sometimes there are no traffic lights, no Red or Green, when you are.

Now this is where you have to proceed. You must be your own cross the street, look carefully each way if making a coming, give yourself the green light.

Don't take a chance.

Now, here again are the Safety Club Contest rules:

1. Join the Bulletin Safety Club.
2. Answer the problem.
3. Save all your answers till you have eleven.
4. Bring or mail, to Bulletin Office, Edmonton.

I PLEDGE:

To stop and look before I step
And cross with light on green;
Go to the corner of each road
Just as I may be seen.

To not run out between parked cars
Or play on any street.
"Always Be Careful" is to me
A motto I will keep.

Uncle Wiggly's Bedtime Story

Uncle Wiggly Longears was awakened in his hollow stump home one morning by a knocking on his bedroom door.

"Yes, what is it, please?" asked the rabbit gentleman as he took the quilt off his pink nose.

"This is Nurse Jan Juny Wuney, Mr. Longears. Don't you remember me—your mustard lady nurse-keeper?"

"Oh, of course I remember you, Nurse Jane."

"Mr. Wiggly, I have a message from Uncle Wiggly. He wants to see you if you have time."

"Oh, of course I have plenty of time, Nurse Jane. Did my big white polar bear friend come to breakfast?"

"No, Uncle Wiggly. Mr. White-wash told me to tell you that he already had eaten his breakfast of frozen fish. But he says there is something mysterious in his snow block igloo house and he wants to tell you about it."

"Tell Mr. White-wash that I shall hurry down, Nurse Jane. Then shall bear about the mystery in his igloo."

Then, as Mr. Longears looked out of his bedroom window, he saw that the snow was falling fast.

"Hail! Hail!" laughed Uncle Wiggly again. "My dream was a true one for there is a big snow storm over Woodland."

The rabbit gentleman slid down the banister railing, for that was the quickest way to get downstairs.

"Hello, White-wash!" greeted Uncle Wiggly as he was the polar bear. "Will you have some carrot pan-cakes for breakfast with me?"

Uncle Wiggly pulled a chair to the table which Nurse Jane had set ready for him. "Nice hot carrot pan-cakes. Willie!"

"Thank you, Willie! I would rather have a frozen fish," Mr. White-wash said. "I found a frozen fish in my pocket. He tossed the fish up in the air, caught it in his mouth as the fish dropped and then Mr. White-wash said: 'Yum! Yum! Nothing like a frozen fish for breakfast!'

Then Mr. Longears said: 'Nurse Jane tells me, Willie, that you have a mystery in your igloo.'"

"Yes, Wiggly, I have. It's about those two little strangers, Kris and Woodland, who are living with me. What do you think they have been doing? It is very mysterious."

"You had best tell me, Willie. I have no time to guess what mystery Kris and Kringle have between them. I must hurry to get out my auto and to take the children to school in the storm."

And suddenly someone knocked on the outer door. "Tell you more tomorrow if the bedroom slipper will please stop chasing the rubber boot off the front porch."

Joint Government Works May Halt

Nova Scotia Premier Asks Some Exceptions In East

OTTAWA, Dec. 5.—(CP)—Possibility of postponement of some federal-provincial joint projects was advanced today by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Well Testing Close to City

The ring of oil wells surrounding Edmonton was drawn tighter today as production tests were run at the new Pacific Petroleum group well at Ellerslie.

The Ellerslie well, C.P.R. Ellerslie No. 1, opens up a new area five miles immediately south of the city which may develop into a new field.

Production is from the base of the lower cretaceous. It is believed production may prove better than usually found in strata of this age.

However, it will not likely approach the D.D. or D.D. zones.

SIX MILES SOUTH

The well is located five miles south of the city on L-302-13-24 W.

It is backed by Pacific Petroleum and groups of Calgary and Vancouver interests.

Jobs for 150 At Refinery

The new McCall-Frontenac refinery, taking shape in East Edmonton, will employ a total of 150 men, a company spokesman said today.

During peak construction, 700 men will be working on the job.

The refinery was started last July and is scheduled for operation by April 1951. Cost is estimated at approximately $7 million.

The plant will be equipped with modern refining equipment, including the giant catalytic cracking unit.

BIG OUTPUT

It will be designed to handle 5,500 barrels of crude daily in turning out a full line of petroleum products. It will be equipped with a crude distillation unit, crude oil fractionating tower, delayed coking unit, crude stilling unit and catalytic polymerization unit.

The refinery has a pipeline to the Saskatchewan river, from which it will draw water for cooling purposes. Water will be stored in a three-million gallon reservoir. The plant was designed and is being constructed by Foster Wheeler Corporation.
